

Script - The Stooges Sketchbook

Harvey: Good evening and welcome to our first show of The Stooges Sketchbook with Myself Harvey

Nina: And Me Nina

Harvey: And as it is our first show we have three sketches from comic disasters with a high tech watch, a windows 10 painful upgrade and a Spoof version of Mastermind but first we shall start with the news

Nina: A Cheese lorry has shed its load on the M1 Motorway so watch out for dead brie on the road as it is still open. The cause of the incident is unknown.

Harvey: Arriva Trains has apologised after a train departed on time

Nina: Microsoft has released an emergency update for its latest operating system after its update was reported to have crash landed upon take off.

Harvey: Firstgroup have solved the problem with overcrowding on the trains with people standing, they removed the seats

Nina: And finally a public service announcement, will the person who does the recordings for all the UKs railway stations please re-record the line for the 10:30 Nottingham Service as it appeared to be stuttered

Harvey: And now for the sketches

The Sketches

Harvey: And that is all we have time for but before we go, we have a few items of late news

Nina: A Chicken lorry has skidded and crashed on the M6 with thousands of chickens on the loose on the carriage way, highways agency are at the scene only to help the chickens cross the motorway

Harvey: A report has found that Royal Mail have admitted that several letters did not get sent to the correct houses, they claimed the letters got lost in the post

Nina: And finally a P&O ferry has run aground in Hunstanton, its captain was believed to watching sperm whales

Harvey: And so it is goodnight from me

Nina: And it is goodnight from him

Harvey & Nina: Goodnight